

Power Management

Reduce utility costs with automated power management

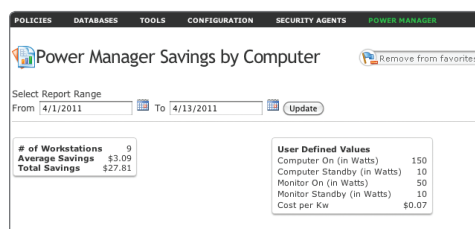

Energy consumed by unattended, unused computers across your network can drain your budget, as well as natural resources. Yet users and IT staff are often too busy to manually manage power usage. Lightspeed Power Management provides sustainable energy savings across your network by monitoring energy usage and directing low-power states and shutdown times. Utility cost-savings of up to $75 per PC per year are documented with detailed reports.

With Lightspeed Power Management, you can:

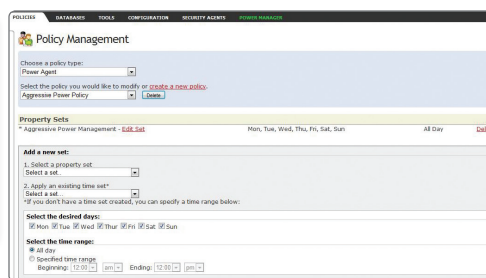

- Save money by powering down unused computers.
- Easily conserve and control energy consumption and costs.
- Balance the needs of your users with automated alerts and bypass capabilities.
- Customize inactivity definitions based on user requirements.
- Utilize “green rebates” from utility companies to offset expenses.

FEATURES

- Detailed reports measure energy usage and savings by individual machine.
- Customizable Aggressive, Moderate, Relaxed, and No power management policies.
- Shutdown, reboot, standby, or wake on LAN power events.
- Scheduling by day and time.
- Easy deployment using Active Directory or Zenworks group policies to push out client software.
- Centralized controls within the Lightspeed interface.
- Power event overrides to accommodate weekly software updates.
- Workstation grouping to simplify large deployments.
- Wake-on-LAN capabilities for updates and remote management.

The Power Manager Savings by Computer report provides an overview of monetary savings over a specified date range.

Easily configure Lightspeed Power Management policies to meet your needs.

“With Lightspeed Power Management I can set policies to shut down computers after they’ve been idle for a certain amount of time. We have more computers and more workstations running on our network, but our utility costs have gone down.”

— David Walker,
Director of Technology,
Telfair County School District
